

Spread the word »

Join us on June 28 for a 2-part discussion

View this email in a web browser

Photo by Pat Revord

Friend --

A year ago, winning dedicated funding for Metro didn't seem possible. Now, the impossible happened. With funding in hand, how did we win and what do we do from here?

Join the Coalition for Smarter Growth and two expert panels to talk about how we finally won the fight for dedicated funding and what needs to happen now that Metro has the money.

Show me the money:

How did we win dedicated funding and where do we go from here?

Thursday, June 28 | 6:30 - 8:30 pm

Georgetown School of Continuing Studies | 640 Massachusetts Ave
NW

*ASL interpretation provided

Free RSVP »

During the first panel, we'll take a look back at the last year. Who were the major players? How did all three jurisdictions come together to take this historic step? Then, we'll look forward: with dedicated funding in hand, what will it buy us?

Join us for a fireside chat with key players, politicians, campaign insiders, and outside observers on how we got to where we are and how we can move forward to solidify a sustainable future for Metro.

Confirmed speakers:

- Clare Flannery | MetroNow
- Kirk Hovenkotter | TransitCenter
- Kate Mattice | Northern Virginia Transportation Commission
- Joe McAndrew | Greater Washington Partnership
- Bob McCartney | The Washington Post
- Dru Schmidt-Perkins | Former Executive Director of 1000 Friends of Maryland
- Joanne Tang | Greater Greater Washington

See you there!

Claire

--

Claire Jaffe

Coalition for Smarter Growth

action@smartergrowth.net

Coalition for Smarter Growth

316 F Street NE | Suite 200
Washington, DC 20002
(202) 675-0016 | smartergrowth.net

Receive this email from a friend or colleague? Join our email list by signing up here.

If you would prefer to receive fewer emails from the Coalition for Smarter Growth or need to update your email address, please email us.

UNSUBSCRIBE